AIR. By Stevenson.

2 My choir shall be the moonlight waves,
When murmuring homeward to their caves;
Or when the stillness of the sea,
Even more than musick, breathes of Thee!

3 I'll seek, by day, some glade unknown,
All light and silence, like thy throne!
And the pale stars shall be, at night,
The only eyes that watch my rite.

4 Thy Heaven, on which 'tis bliss to look,
Shall be my pure and shining book,
Where I shall read, in words of flame,
The glories of thy wondrous name.

5 I'll read thy anger in the rack
That clouds a while the day-beam's track;
Thy mercy in the azure hue
Of sunny brightness, breaking through

6 There's nothing bright, above, below,
From flowers that bloom to stars that glow
But in its light my soul can see
Some feature of thy Deity!

7 There's nothing dark, below, above,
But in its gloom I trace thy love,
And meekly wait that moment, when
Thy touch shall turn all bright again!

1. Awake, my glory, harp and lute, No longer let your strings be mute; And I, my tuneful part to take, Will with the early dawn awake.

3. Be thou, O God, ex - alt - ed high, And, as thy glory fills the sky; So let it be on earth display'd, 'Till thou art here, as there obey'd.

FAIR TRUTH, LIKE THINE.

Written by Thomas S. Webb, Esq.
Musick composed by O. Shaw.

Should wisdom guide the councils of the king, And woman's beauty partial durance bring;

Should prince and beggar, bondman and the free, O mighty wine, be made a - like by thee, O mighty wine, be made a - like by thee.

SOPRANO. CHORUS.

Yet neither beauty, mighty kings nor wine, Hath pow'r and majesty, fair Truth, like thine,

ALTO.

TENOR.

Yet neither beauty, mighty kings nor wine Hath pow'r and majesty, fair Truth, like thine,

BASS.

Thy judgments, always just, and ever sure,
In all vicissitudes shall still endure ;
At thy approach hypocrisy shall flee,
And wisdom, strength and beauty dwell with thee.
For neither beauty, &c.

3;

All else on earth is mutable and frail,
All else deceive, but thou shalt never fail,
Thou still shalt blossom in immortal youth,
Forever blessed be the God of Truth,
For neither beauty, &c.
